Triskeles is a non-profit organization that prepares diverse groups of youth for success by teaching them the skills needed to live a healthy life, the value of work, job readiness, leadership, and team work. The organization provides programs for whole communities to address pervasive issues of poverty such as hunger and food security. Through the lens of sustainability, young people learn to make choices leading to health and well-being for themselves, their communities, and the planet. www.triskelesprograms.org

The Radley Run golf course, opened in 1965, has been described as 'The Hidden Jewel' by members, guests and golfers. The rolling terrain coupled with two ponds and a meandering stream provides for an exciting and challenging round of golf. The course was designed by the world renowned architect, Alfred H. Tull.
